Houriste Calembours.—A correspondent states that a friend, during the eclipse of Wednesday morning, said he was forcibly struck by the strange appearance of the sun, and inquires whether it might properly be called a case of coup de soliel?

House Struck by Lightning.—The residence of Samuel Wolf, on Baymiller-street, near Clark, was struck by lightning, during the storm of yesterday evening, but was not materially damaged. Picsic of the St. Peter's Benevolent Society.—The picnic of the St. Peters Benevolent Society, postponed on the 4th inst., in consequence of the weather, took place yesterday, at Ludlow Grove. The exercises, however, were conducted in accordance with the programme arranged for the Fourth. About six thousand persons were in attendance, and the affair passed off in the most agreeable manner. The Declaration of Independence was read by Louis A. Allen, and an address delivered by Dennis J. Toohey, both of which were loudly applauded. Menter's Band was in attendance and discoursed most eloquent music in its usual excellent style.

SHERIPP'S SALES OF REAL ESTATE.-The Sheriff's sales of real estate yesterday morning in the rotunda of the Court-house were quite largely attended. Three pieces of property only were offered, of which two were sold, as follows:

The undivided one-sixth of a trust of 200 serves of land in Section No. 28 in Springfield

The undivided one-sixth of a tract of 200 acres of land in Section No. 28 in Springfield Township, formerly owned by Aaron Lane, sr.; valued at $75, and sold to Isaac Lane and John J. Miles for $61 per acre.

Lot on the east side of Pleasant-street, 40½ feet front by 190½ deep, to a back street; valued at $4,000 for lot and improvements, and sold to Casper Fischer for $4,000.

ARREST OF ALLEGED DEALERS IN LOTTERY
THERTS.—A number of persons were arrested day before yesterday for dealing in lotterytickets. It is well-known that the business is carried on to a considerable extent in all large cities, and it is not at all likely this is an exception. The parties gave bail in the sum of $200 each for their appearance before Judge Lowe next Saturday morning.

For the benefit of the curious we publish the following from the statute in reference to selling or dealing in lottery-tickets, taken from "An act entitled an act for the punishment of certain offenses therein named,"

this will be a great advantage to those who ight house thou UNAUTRORIERD ARRESTS BY THE POLICE—STRUCLAR CARE IN THE POLICE COURT.—No city, so far at we have been able to learn, is well governed, and among all the complicated machinery that is considered necessary for success in this particular, no part of it is more arduous to manage properly than the Police force. The business, at all events, is one of the most disagreeable ever invented by man, and it is therefore exceedingly difficult to find just such men as are best fitted for the duties. Our Police force might be worse, but it has nevertheless many faults that might and should be remedied; but as about one half of the errors may be found in the law, by which it is governed, we feel some disposition to be lenient toward the persons who compose it.

The individual policemen, however, often make wide mistakes, and many for which there can be no possible excuse. One of these, which has recently become an exceeding source of annoyance to all just persons, is the number of unauthorized arrests and trivial charges that are made in the Police Court. We will give an illustration that occurred yesterday before Judge Lowe, and leave the matter without comment in the mind of the reader.

Some weeks ago, a man usmed William Prince was arrested on a charge of vagrancy, but as it could not be substantiated, the case was dismissed. Day before yesterday he was re-arrested, and the same charge preferred against him. The policeman testified that he was a notorious thief, but offered no evidence upon which to base his assertion, save the fact that his likeness was in the Rogue's Gallery, a matter of no weight whatever in the mind of any person acquainted with the manner by which their pictures are obtained.

The defendant produced witnesses who testified that he had been engaged in business in this city, and stated that since his former arrest he had been cagaed in business in this city, and stated that since his former arrest he had been cagaed in business in this city, and stated that since his former arrest he had been cagaed in b possible.

No such thing was attempted, and the defendant was sentenced to ten days imprisonment in that miserable, humanity-disgracing institution, known as the City Prison. Doubtless he now regards himself as a vagrant, but the injustice of such proceedings—and unfortunately this, is not an isolated case—must be palpable, o the most obtuse intellect.

BUSINESS MEN'S PRAYER-MERTING.—The Chairman, Rev. Mr. Weed, read the Fifth Chapter of Corinthians, and made some suitable comments thereon.

Judge Sutton, of Arkansas, delivered a forcible appeal in favor of working out our own salvation, as they did down in his State. He said that we would be judged entirely by our works, and by his powerful arguments demolished the idea of salvation by faith. (One of the rules says that no controverted points shall be discussed. The Judge, however, thought his speech an "end of controversy.").

Prayers were offered up for the Universal-

Prayers were offered up for the Universal-ists, an utterly benighted and deeply polluted ists, an utterly benighted and deeply polluted sect.

A clergyman spoke of the faith mentioned by Paul, and that alluded to by James. They were one and the same thing. St. James said that he would show his faith by his works. It must be so with Christians of our day. If we had faith of a proper character, we would feed the hungry, clothe the naked, and live as Christ lived. These were the proofs that we had faith. So that, after all, the judgment would depend upon works, as they were the evidences of our faith. "Work out your own salvation," ever remembering that it was through Christ alone that we performed every good work.

A speaker related an instance, showing how faith and works went together. A ferryman was in the habit of taking two gentleman across the stream, who were constantly discussing the matter of faith and works. One morning the ferryman, in rowing them over, endeavored to do so with one oar. The boat went round and round, but made no progress. The gentleman asked what he meant by doing this. He told them to look at the oars. On one of them was written the word "faith;" on the other the word "works." He then used the two oars, and soon landed his passengers on the other side. Only those who have both faith and works will land safely on the "other side of Jordan."

NEW LAUNDRY UNDER THE DIRECTION OF THE SISTERS OF MERCY.—The Sisters of Mercy, who eminently deserve the title in conse-quence of their numerous and unostentatious who eminently deserve the title in consequence of their numerous and unostentatious charities, have established a laundry under their immediate superintendence, at their Convent on Fourth-street, between Central arenue and John. Their main object is for the benefit of unemployed females, and we are informed that both coarse and fine washing will be executed on short notice, and the most reasonable terms. To further facilitate them in this laudable undertaking, they have made arrangements to manufacture all kinds of clothing for infants, and also to do plain sewing in the best and most desirable manner. Clothes will be collected and roturned free of charge. For particulars apply at the Convent any morning, Sundays excepted, at eight o'clock. Ladies desiring suvants may be supplied free of charge by calling upon the Sisters of Mercy, Saturdays and Sundays excepted, at half-past one o'clock. The object is purely a charitable one in every particular, and we earnestly hope it may meet with the fullest success.

Examination of the Alleggo Horigids of Professor Chawley.—Patrick Milles, who has been arrested and examined three times upon a charge of having murdered Professor Henry T. Crawley, was committed to jail yesterday by Justice Marchant, in default of bail in the sum of $1,000, to answer the charge at the next term of the Court of Common Pleas. The principal witness in the case was a man named Charles McCarthy, who testifies that he had seen the knife with which it is supposed the homicide was committed, in the possession of the defandant in the afternoon previous to the tragedy. The circumstances connected with this case have been so often rehearsed that they are familiar to every one; and we fear the Prosecuting Attorney will find it extremely difficult to substantiate the charge, even with the aid of this additional testimony.

ARREST OF A TRIO OF ALLEGED BURGLARS. About half-past three o'clock yesterday morning, three persons, named James Sullivan, Peter Boophy and James Bowman, were arrested near the corner of Eighth and Race, upon suspicion of having been engaged in a burglary that had been committed a short time previous. Officers Hopkins, Shiner, Leonard and Williams, seeing the door of Dr. McCarthy's office, corner of Sixth and College, open, entered and aroused the sleeping Esculapian, who was not long in learning that he had been robbed of a watch and some articles of wearing apparel, containing a port-monnaie, some valuable papers, and about $100 in money. When the parties were examined, the watch was foond upon their persons, but the money and clothing had been secreted. They were arraigned before Judge Lowe yesterday morning, and committed in default of ball in the sum of $1,000 for their appearance to-day. ARREST OF A TRIO OF ALLEGED BURGLARS

Sudden Death at the Hammond-street Station-house.—A man named Dennis Geary was picked up night before last, on Main-street, near Sixth, while suffering from a fit of delivium fremens. He was conveyed to the Hammond-street Station-house, where, after enduring the severest pain until one o'clock, he died. Coroner Carey held an inquest upon the body, which resulted in a verdiet of death from intemperance. The deceaned was about sixty years of age, and leaves a wife and four children, who reside on the hill; in the neighborhood of the Observatory.

Bell and Everett Ratification Meeting. Notwithstanding the very unpropilions aspect of the weather, a large crowd assembled at the Fifth-street Market-space, last night, to ratify the nomination of Bell and Everett. But as it was apparent that the meeting was much smaller than it otherwise would have been, the Committee, to whom the matter was entrusted postponed it till

COMMON PLEAS. THE ALLEGED ERROR IN THE AWARD OF THE JAIL CONTRACT.—J. M. Blundell & Co. es. the Commissioners of Hamilton County and Handy & Bro. Before Judge Carter.
Judge Caldwell resumed his argument, He urged that this was not an appealable case, and referring to the merits of the case, said that Blundell & Co.'s bid was not the lowest.

said that Blundell & Co.'s bid was not the lowest.

Mr. O'Connor claimed that in the estimate of Blundell & Co.'s bid, the Commissioners had multiplied it by three and a half. He then discussed the question as to the right of appeal, and as to the discretion claimed for the Commissioners, said that no public officer was invested with a discretion nor could affect a substantial right. The Commissioners are governed by law, and are not such potent magnates that they are above it. He did not claim that they had acted fraudulently, but simply that they had made a mistake. The argument has not closed.

BOND REQUIRED FROM EXECUTORS.—J. F. Cunningham and wife, legatees under the will of Anthony Harkness (whose real and personal property was appraised at $504,000), petitioned that the executors Chas. Harkness, T. L. King and C. L. Gano, should be required to give security for the performance of the trusts named therein.

The Court granted the application, and required the executors to give two securities in the sum of $50,000 each.

SECOND SIGHT TESTED.—Mr. Heller's "Second Sight" phenomenon was tested last evening by a gentleman in the audience, who expressed a firm conviction that the boy is a clairvoyant. He requested Mr. Heller to ascertain the time indicated by his watch without seeing it. "That," said Mr. Heller, would be first, not second sight. The boy did ascertain the time, however, which seemed to strengthen the gentleman in his own opinion. Mr. Heller sent the boy out to the front of the dress-circle, where his pulse was felt by several medical men, and his normal condition established. While the boy was among the audience, held and surrounded, he, as Mr. Heller's request, described several objects picked up in another part of the house, among them a check, which he described fully, date, sum, name and signature. Ventriloquism, reflecting mirrors, and now clairvoyance, are exploded, and "Second Sight" remains the puzzle it ever was.

The Trot Yesterday.—The race over the Cincinnati Trotting Park, yesterday aftermoon, between "Lady Gay" and "George Crain" was largely attended. The match was for $2,000, three mile heats, best two in three, to harness. The first was declared a dead heat by the judges, the mare passing the horse, and reaching the score on a run. In the third heat the borse was distanced. We annex the following We annex the following

Man Killer on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway.—A man named Win. O'Brien, who resides, we believe, on Fifthstreet, near the Whitewater Canal, was run over by a train on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway, yesterday afternoon, in a bridge near Carthage, and instantly killed, it is supposed that he went into the bridge while in a state of intoxication and fell asleep, while the dim light was insufficient to make his position known to the engineer. The deceased, it is said, was of extremely intemperate habits, and has a wife and family at the place we have named.

Boy Found Drowned in the Canal.—A lad about thirteen years of age, named John Brady, was found in lock No. 9, in the Miami Canal, yesterday morning. It appears he had been absent from home during the previous night, and in their endeavors to find their son, the parents discovered his clothes on the banks of the canal. The lock was drained, and the body thus recovered. An inquest was held, at the request of the parents, who reside on the canal, between Eighth and Ninth-streets, and resulted in a verdict of accidental drowning. cidental drowning.

A GREAT BONNET-MAKING TOWN.—The town of Foxboro' is undoubtedly the largest place of straw manufacture in Massachusetts, if not in the world. At one factory in Foxboro, 330 girls, and about 270 men are employed, the girls averaging $1, and the men $2 per day. The same concern employs 170 men and girls in a branch factory at Nantucket, and 400 at another in Medfield. They also give employment to 2,500 women outside of the factories. The capital of the company is $500,000, their sales last year were $1,300,000. $15,000 per month is required for the payment of wages, while 15,000 hats and bonnets are manufactored per day. They also give employment to an extensive box factory in the town. But a small portion of the straw goods used are plaited in this country, the wages of labor being too high here to afford it at the same rate at which it can be imported.

"The Mistakes of the Census-Takers."
In an article of the Passes this morning, "The Mistakes of the Census-Takers." I am astonished to find that the returns in the Marshal's office seem to indicate only 250,000 inhabitants in city and county, when in the best judgment of our best statisticians, this city alone contains that number, certainly, and over, and to prove how gross an error there is, and how near the truth the Passe appears to be, when it says that about "one-fith" of the real number has not been estimated, let me refer you to facts.

The census of 1850 gives Cincinnati 115,000. In that and the preceding year the cholera visited this region; many citizens left the place to escape its ravages, and considerable of its population had left, temporarily, for California. So thoroughly convinced were our business men that the actual population was much greater than the figures warranted, that, in 1852, Mr. Chas. Gist was induced to go over the same ground, for the purpose of correcting the "mistakes of the censustakers." He employed two or three "computent" men, and had much longer time allowed him than "six weeks." The city proper then was divided into eight wards—Liberty-street being the northern boundary line—and every part, street, alley and teneroent was thoroughly and effectually canvassed, and the result was, as you stated, 164,000 inhabitants.

Now, to show that there has most assuredly been a gross lack of efficiency in the recent earnase. Our city has been growing daily since 1852; her limits have extended widely, snow numbering seventeen wards—the additional wards covering about as much territory as they did then (in 1852). The T-welfth Ward, which is north of Liberty-street, has a larger population than any other ward, and this was added since the year 1852; and, lastly, the Seventeenth Ward, extending upward of three miles along the river, with its busy, bustling below free manual powers of the city o

To the Editors of the Daily Press:

The notice in your issue of yesterday of a "Sad and singular case of drowning," induces me to pray you to call the attention of the proper authorities to the criminally careless manner in which the mouths of the sewers, and particularly those on West Court-street, are left, without grating or guard of any kind, having egress large enough to receive the body of a horse. But a short time since one of my children was rescued from a like accident, which, while it furnishes, as you well remark, a warning to boys, ought also to be a warning to the officials who are willing to leave such pitfalls in the principal highways of a large and populous city, dangerous not alone to the thoughtless child, but to the adult, by day as well as by night.

Respectfully, SIXTEENTH WARD.

The Lost Arts-False Impressions Corrected.

The Scientific American says: A great deal of nonsense has been uttered by sensation lecturers and magazine writers about wonderful arts which perished with the ancients. To trust in the lamentations of these wise-acres over the "lost arts," one would think we had fallen upon very degenerate times indeed. But none of the doleful stories are true. Cleopatra, no doubt, was a very fine woman; but she never dissolved pearls in wine. Archimedes was a great man in his day, but he never set fire to the Roman ships with burning glasses as the fable relates.

The ancients had no useful arts which we do not understand better and practice more skillfully than they did. The humblest American mechanic could teach the polished Greek and the cunning Egyptian sciences and arts of which they never dreamed. The ancients, indeed-gid many wonderful things which have not been since-repeated but they were only such things as are not worth doing over again. If we had occasion to build such a foolish thing as a pyramid, we would turn it out finished in a few months. George Law and a hundred others would be willing to take the contract at a day's notice.

If any people, now-a-days, lived in a condition like the ancients, they would be our duty speedly to send missionaries among them. What a lamentable sight would be a nation of great menial vigor, half-clothed and poorly fed, tilling the earth with wooden plows without soap, pins, friction matches or Indiarubber! How queenly would one of our factory girls appear to them! How magical the art of a Yankee clockmaker! Beggars, now-a-days, with regard to the substantial comforts of life, fare better than ancient Kings.

Our modern civilization is surely just what is mited for the welfare of humanity.

Comforts of fife, fare better than ancient Kings.

Our modern civilization is surely just what is suited for the welfare of humanity. The steam engine, politics, electricity, morality, and every good thing move on together harmoniously. We look back into the past, to note, as warnings, the paths of error which our predecessors trod, and we push on cheerfully and confidently, feeling that the present and the future are of the utmost importance to us.

Colossal Gooseberraies.—For some years an association has existed at Patterson, N. J., for cultivating the gooseberry. The members, who are all Englishmen, give annual exhibitions, and award premiums for the largest raised of the several varieties. This year the first prize was taken by Mr. Henry Wilkinson, whose specimen berry, of the "Speedwell" variety, weighed twenty-one pennyweights and nine grains. One which had previously "burst its boiler" weighed twenty-four pennyweights and five grains, the largest, doubtless, ever raised on this continent. The list of premiums is regularly forwarded to England and published among the transactions of the Gooseberry Society of that kingdom.

Gas or the Summit of a Mountain.—The project of introducing gas to the top of the Orange Mountain may be considered a bold enterprise, and yet it has been done. On Saturday night three houses were lighted up on the top of the mountain, from the public gas works. This has involved the digging of a trench two or three feet deep, in many instances through solid rock for the distance of at least a mile and a half, and laying it with iron pipe.—Trenton (N. J.) PALESEO, June 22, 1860.

Here we are, all safe, although I hear the papers have said the contrary. We left Genoa with three steamers, one of which ran on to Leghorn to embark laborers for the Isthmus of Suez, and after a good passage, got into Cagliari. Not so the American clipper with a battalion on board that sailed twenty-four hours before us. The Neapolitans fell in with her off Cape Corso, and captured her. She is now, with all her cargo, both live and dead, at Naples. Yesterday the American man-of-war on the station sailed for that port to demand her peremptorily. She was taken on the high seas, not in Neapolitan waters—therefore her capture is an act of piracy by the law of nations. Notwithstanding that loss, we landed twenty-five hundred men, and large supplies of Enfeld rifles and amunition.

Palermo is in a frightful state from the bombardment. Accounts vary as to the number of shells thrown into the city; but the beat report I can get gives them at about eight hundred. The Toledo is in places quite blocked up with ruius. Near the palace, nearly an entire street is burned. In other parts, ruins meet you at every step. At present, the people are hard at work removing the barricades and leveling the Castello-a-mare, from which the city are to be thrown.

All the works toward the city are to be razed to the ground. The people are wild with joy at their deliverance. A friend of mine asked a man, yesterday, if it was a festa. "Yes, signore, every day is a festa now." he said, with tears rising to his eyes. Those who were present tell me never was any thing like Garibaldi's entry into the city. He had not above 600 available men besides the Sicilian levies, and the eneny was 20,000 strong! I am sorry to say a great many Mazzinianists have arrived. They will much damage the cause of Italy by their presence. Extraordinary are the ravages of the royal troops—villas sacked and burned. I was in one, yesterday, that belonged to the Neapolitan Minister, Cavona. They had destroyed every thing they could not carry away.

The floor was strewed with broken mir-stroyed every thing they could not carry away.

The floor was strewed with broken mirrors, chandeliers, marbles, vasies, busts, &c. His own room they had piled up with furniture, and tried to set the building on fire. In another villa, a valuable library, apparently, (for I had not time to examine more than a few of the books,) was totally destroyed, the torn books being as high as a man's waist. I saw some Spanish manuscripta, royal decrees, &c., which would be invaluable to Sicilian historians, torn to pieces. After the armistice, the royalists sacked upwards of a thousand houses, and committed numberless murders.

HORRIBLE MURDER IN CANADA—THE SUP-rosed MURDERER DETECTED BY BLOOD SPOTS ON A BANK BILL.—A man was murdered at Windsor, C. W., on Sunday night last and robbed of a large amount of money. The next morning after the murder, a man ap-peared at the railroad ticket office in that peared at the railroad ticket office in that village and purchased tickets for Albany. He paid for the tickets in bank bills, and the receiver noticed that one or more had blood spots on them, and the circumstance awakened his suspicions—he knowing of the murder. Meanwhile the train had started and the passenger was aboard. A telegram was sent to Chatham and the stranger was arrested and taken back to Windsor.

ENGLISH PREVENTION OF HYDROPHORIA.-In England, the keepers of packs of hounds invariably mix pounded sulphur with the water which their dogs drink during the apring, which, they believe, will prevent bydrophobia. It is certainly worth a trial.

My DRAR SIR: I live over again the days of my infancy and youth. What you say goes to my heart, and the epithet which you have chosen to express your sensations accords so exactly with my own, that no other could convey, in one word, the poetry, the romance and truth which the Alhambra of my imagination at once inspires. It will afford me great pleasure to comply with your wish; but remember, among works none are so hard to translate as poems, for most different in various languages is the genius of versification; most difficult, too, the order of poetic inspiration.

In lyrical poems there is a wildness, and a rapturous frequency of transition so powerfully calculated to develop the innermost peculiarities of the people whose feelings are poured through this medium, that the common phrases fail, and the full nationality of the idiom prevails. For this reason, to translate an ode of the South into the tongues of the North is like transplanting the pomegranate and palm tree of Syria to the orchards of Middlesex.
